

Provider Instructions: Use this resource to assist your students with exploring the labor market.

- Students will need to know what county they live in for the activity. For those students that are unsure of their county, help them learn this information.
- This activity could be used at the beginning of job exploration before students have selected a career of interest, or parts can be adapted toward a certain career of interest.
  - If you adapt certain parts toward a specific career of interest, make sure to have students investigate the area profile. The area profile will indicate how their career of interest is projected to do in that area.
- Links and screenshots have been provided for each part of the Jobs4Tn student resource. Assist your student with using the links and screenshots to navigate the Jobs4Tn website.
- This activity can be done more than once. The labor market will change and it's important for students to see how career projections shift overtime.
- When students are comparing different jobs and the labor market, the students career preferences may change. If new career interests spark out of this activity, it would be beneficial to help students explore those new careers.
