What is JCIL?
Hope, Access, Training, Self Respect, Encouragement, Possibilities, Solutions, Freedom.....

The Jackson Center for Independent Living is a community based, nonresidential, consumer controlled program of services designed to enable persons with disabilities to achieve maximum independence and fully participate in all aspects of community life.
What populations do you work with? (i.e. Are your programs disability-specific?)

Independent Living is being in control and advocating for yourself. People with disabilities are the experts on disabilities. That is why JCIL services are consumer driven.
What programs/supports do you offer for youth with disabilities while they are in high school and after they transition out of high school?
How can people get connected with your programs?

These organizations are:

- The Centers for Independent Living
- The Statewide Independent Living Council of Tennessee

Supporting partners to the network are:

- Community volunteers and peer mentors
- Other disability rights organizations whose work honors the Independent Living philosophy, such as The Arc Tennessee, Disability Rights Tennessee, and the Tennessee Council on Developmental Disabilities.

The Centers for Independent Living in Tennessee are spread across the state. The centers have Independent Living specialists who promote Independent Living philosophy by supporting people with disabilities in overcoming barriers to their goals.

Are there any other services you are aware of within your region that provide similar services?

- Family Support Program

- The primary purpose of the program is to support:
  - Families who have school-aged or younger children with severe disabilities
  - Adults with severe disabilities who choose to live with their families
  - Adults with severe disabilities not supported by other residential programs funded by state or federal funds

- Services can include but are not limited to: Respite care, day care services, home modifications, equipment, supplies, personal assistance, transportation, homemaker services, housing costs, health-related needs, nursing and counseling.

- Services are flexible and responsive to families and their needs. An essential element of the Family Support Program is family and consumer involvement. Local and District Councils have been established and meet on a regular basis to oversee and provide advice on the distribution of local services.
