The Difference Between High School & College
Preparing for and Accessing Disability-Related Support

Dr. Chester Goad
October 13, 2020
Overview of 504/ADA
(applicable to college)

- Affects any institution receiving Federal financial assistance
- “No otherwise qualified individual...” can be denied access based on a disability
- “Substantial limitation of one or more major life activities”
  - not everyone gets blanket accommodations
  - documentation has to warrant accommodations requested
Responsibilities Under IDEA, Section 504, and the ADA at the Secondary and Postsecondary Levels

IDEA and ADA: A Comparison

The Educational Perspective

IDEA
- Free & Appropriate Mandatory Education
- Entitlement Law
- Remedial Learning Tools
- Outcome Oriented: Successful Learning

ADA
- Optional Education, and definitely not free
- Civil Rights Law
- Aids and Accommodations
- Equal Access—NOT Equal Outcome

What Colleges Don’t Provide:

- Personal attendants
- Transportation (unless it’s provided to all students)
- Tutoring (unless it’s provided to all students)
- Individually prescribed devices and services (ex: hearing aids, physical therapy, speech therapy)
Preparing for the transition

- Have current and complete medical and/or psychological information; check with college as to what “current” means (typically 3-5 years)
- Make sure students have a good understanding of their disability (strengths and weaknesses to work on)
- Teach & encourage students to advocate for themselves
- Inform the student about the ADA & Section 504
- Inform the student about accommodation arrangements for testing (ACT/SAT, etc.)
How Schools & Parents Can Help

- Recommend a visit to colleges before deciding
- Recommend the student contact the college disability office early for an orientation to services and accommodations
- Encourage student participation in transition planning while in high school
What students can do to prepare

- Inquire about admission process to the college of choice
- Contact disability services office
- Inquire about types of academic accommodations typically provided for a student with similar disability.
- Inquire about tutoring programs (charge or free).
- Take high school courses that will get student into college.
- Be able to describe limitations/strengths of disability in detail.
- Find a planner that works.
- Build a habit of studying 2-4 hours per day

Transition TN Virtual College Fair Oct. 13, 2020
College Certificate Programs
Academics

• Individual Programs of Study

• 1-2 University courses each semester
  • Learning Agreements developed with student input to lay out course expectations
  • Part of the larger learning community
  • Note sharers and tutors provide supports
  • Typically not able to earn course credit

• Skills of Independence Coursework
  • Topics taught by program staff and grad students
  • Jr. & Sr. Year- student driven, independent studies
  • Prepared for mastery of content, differentiated instruction
  • Earn grades and credit towards certificate
Career Development

• Getting ready for future employment is major focus of our time at college
  • Coursework
  • Self-discovery opportunities, i.e. job shadowing, interest inventories
  • Internships on & off campus
  • Job coaches
  • Tons of guided reflection
  • Social skills developed

******************************

• Nationally 16% of adults with ID have paid employment. Our statewide average for the graduates is 75%!!
• Vanderbilt is proud to be at 91%.
University Life

- Students are full-time college students that are involved in many activities.

- Join Student Organizations on campus

- Attend sporting events, concerts, and more

- Some have even joined Greek life

- Many chances to practice social skills
Skills of Independence

The entire campus is the classroom:

• Learned to follow individual college schedule, no bells
• Developed time management skills
• Learned many computer and phone skills
• Learned to navigate campus independently
• Learned to ask for help, to self-advocate
• Learned to deal with problems in an adult way
• Learned to make own social plans
• Living in dorms is the bomb for learning to live on our own
Residential Life-Living On and Off Campus

- Goal across the state is for all college programs to offer dorms and off-campus living supports.

- Currently the following programs are able to offer housing:
  - EDGE at Union University, Jackson, TN
  - IDEAL at Lipscomb University, Nashville, TN
  - FUTURE at University of TN, Knoxville
Eligibility

• Students with a strong desire to go to college, to learn to be as independent as possible, and can function well behaviorally on an open university campus
• 18-26 yrs. Lipscomb, Union, and Vanderbilt
• 18-29 at UTK, ETSU, and University of Memphis
• Have an intellectual disability, can have co-occurring disabilities as well, had an IEP
• All high school diploma types accepted
• Additional information on program websites
Am I Ready for College?

STRATEGIES FOR A SUCCESSFUL TRANSITION TO COLLEGE

Leslie Smith
Manager, Access Center
Transitioning to College

• Transition from high school to college requires a period of adjustment for ALL students

• Transition to college for students with disabilities requires special planning

• Employ SPECIFIC transition strategies EARLY!
Plan Ahead

• Take H.S. classes that help prepare you for college work

• Work closely with your H.S. counselor to plan out your needs for transition to college

• Take the ACT (or SAT) early so you can retake it, if necessary

• Review college websites for information

• Take advantage of college visitation days and visit the disability services office while on campus

• Complete college applications as early as possible
Disclosure of Disability

- DS offices are generally not involved in the college application process

- NEVER send documentation of disability to an Admissions office

- Disclosure of disability status should be made AFTER acceptance to the college to disability services office

- Disclosure of disability status is never required UNLESS accommodations are needed
Seek Financial Support

• Fill out the FAFSA as soon as possible

• Apply early for scholarships, grants, and other aid

• Apply to civic organizations that might offer scholarships

• Apply to Vocational Rehabilitation (even if they don’t sponsor college, there are other services that might benefit you)
Learn About Yourself

• Request updated psycho-educational testing while still in high school

• Learn more about your disability and how it affects you

• Learn/practice self-advocacy skills

• Learn/practice coping strategies that work well for you

• Learn about the differences between high school and college-level accommodations
Apply for Support

• Register with the disability services office as soon as you’re admitted to the college, even if you don’t plan on using accommodations

• Provide copies of your test report or other documentation of your disability AND your IEP

• Follow-up immediately if more information is requested to complete your registration

• Verify your registration is complete before the start of the semester
Questions to Ask DS

• How do I apply for accommodations?

• What documentation is required?

• Where can I find documentation if I don’t have a copy?

• How will I be notified of my status/accommodations?

• Should I register before I take the placement tests?
• Is assistive technology available to help me in my classes?

• How will my professors be notified about my accommodations?

• How does testing work if I receive accommodations?

• How do I request additional accommodations if my situation changes?

• What other resources are available?
Getting Started in College

• Sign-up for the earliest possible orientation session for the best selection of classes

• Take advantage of early learning opportunities such as Learning Commons/Summer Bridge programs or a summer college class

• Consider an internship, a part-time summer job, or volunteer/community service (especially in area of study)
Types of Financial Aid

- Grant – free money based on need
- Loan – money borrowed that must be paid back with interest
- Scholarship – free money awarded on the basis of merit, skill, or unique characteristic
- Work study – money received from on campus employment
